A seminar on “What Makes Space Sacred?” for clergy, professionals, students and all those interested in sacred art, design and architecture

Presentation by

Jeff Greene
EverGreene Architectural Arts

Jeff Greene has led large-scale interior conservation, restoration, and new design work for public and sacred spaces in every historic architectural style from coast to coast, including the U.S. Capitol, Metropolitan Opera House, Cathedral of Christ the Light, Eldridge Street Synagogue, and the New York Public Library.

Panel Discussion on the history and theology of sacred spaces with

William Dyrness, Ph.D.
Fuller Theological Seminary

Joshua Holo, Ph.D.
Hebrew Union College

Commentary by

Richard Mouw, Ph.D.
Fuller Theological Seminary

Jonathan Freund
Board of Rabbis of Southern California

The second of a two-part discussion on the use and meaning of sacred space in churches and synagogues, this dialogue is the latest in a series co-sponsored by Fuller Theological Seminary and the Board of Rabbis of Southern California. For nearly a decade, the two groups have invited pastors, rabbis, and others to participate in interfaith discussions about a variety of topics, with the goal of fostering greater understanding between Christians and Jews.

The program and lunch are free. RSVP by Feb. 8 is essential.
Please RSVP Online: www.jewishla.org/sacred-spaces-ii

For info, email BoardofRabbis@JewishLA.org or call 323.761.8600